

John Nash is vice president of sales at AMC Health. John brings over 20 years of experience in the healthcare industry, with a proven track record of driving innovation that leverages technology to improve patient experience and financial results. His extensive healthcare IT background encompasses enterprise technology and SAAS-based solution providers from early-phase startups to well-established Fortune 500 companies, and solutions that include electronic health records, claims processing and healthcare integration. Over the past five years, John has focused on all aspects of care coordination, including health coaching, care and referral management, remote patient monitoring and virtual care with AMC Health. John graduated from Boston College with a bachelor's degree in business and a marketing focus. He currently resides in Franklin, MA, with his wife and two children.